

Bruce Rich, Hunting Heritage Program Manager, Rocky Mountain Elk Foundation

An avid hunter and angler, he has also been a fish and wildlife conservation professional for nearly 4 decades, and is retired from Montana Fish, Wildlife & Parks. He is a Montana Master Hunter Graduate and a Fellow of, and past Coach for, the National Conservation Leadership Institute (NCLI). Bruce is also a former Hunter and Bowhunter Education instructor and Recreational Boating and Fishing Foundation Board Member, and is currently a National Archery in the Schools (NASP) Basic Archery Instructor and an active instructor for Conservation Leaders for Tomorrow (CLfT).