

Mike McTee, MPG Ranch

Mike McTee is a researcher at MPG Ranch in Montana's Bitterroot Valley. He blends his background in chemistry with his interest in hunting and wildlife. Mike has published studies on contamination at shooting ranges, lead poisoning in wildlife, and the wound ballistics of bullets. He regularly speaks and writes about these topics. Mike holds a B.S. in Environmental Chemistry and an M.S. in Geosciences from the University of Montana.